KTS The Corner is pleased to have the opportunity to sponsor this De Beauvoir Association Newsletter and would like to wish all readers a Happy New Year.

We are happy to announce that after many years of correspondence with the London Borough of Hackney, we finally have a loading bay, situated outside the timber yard at our back gate in Englefield Road. And many of you may be pleased to see that in 2007 we upgraded our unique two-sided clock to a three-sided one, which can now be seen from North, South, East and West.

Now you have taken down your Christmas decorations you may feel the need to carry out some home DIY.

Bring this newsletter with you for a 10% discount.

From all at KTS – a very Happy New Year to you all

NEW! on the DBA website at www.debeauvoir.org.uk. We have set up a directory of trades and services in (and very near to) De Beauvoir.

Thanks to Typhoon Creative Partnership (www.typhooncp.com) for our logo and to Supreme Printers (info@supremeprinters.com) for the printing

De Beauvoir

ASSOCIATION

NEWSLETTER
JANUARY 2008

Sponsored by KTS The Corner

We hope you had a happy and a peaceful holiday. The New Year seems to be a good time to sum up who we are at the DBA and what we do. At last autumn's AGM, Hilary Mandleberg, who has been the chair since we reformed the association in 2004, said (again) that she wanted to step down. No one felt they could fill her shoes but we have started a rotating Chair and Oliver Schofield is Chair at the moment. We owe Hilary a great debt for her sterling work so far. We now have a fairly flexible committee running the DBA, with the newsletter compiled collaboratively, but masterminded by Carol Lee.

Also at the AGM, we heard Edward Benyon talk about his job of running the estate and about opposition to a planning application of his in De Beauvoir Road. We learned that the estate now comprises 300 properties and that he has been told by his family to make sure it is profitable. He told us there would be further schemes to develop small vacant sites or unused buildings. Interestingly, the family still pronounces De Beauvoir as 'De Beaver'.

We had a bit of a triumph recently when we showed Hackney Council that it had 'forgotten' that it had collected money from developers that was meant to have been used to sort out the appalling state of the pavements in Hertford Road and Enfield Road. They said they would get on with it soon. There is more money in that pot and we are looking to see if we can get some of it actually spent in De Beauvoir. Also, we try to keep people informed about important planning applications affecting the area and we are hoping to expand our programme of community events this year. Kathryn Moore has already started work planning an even better Party in the Park, which will take place on Saturday 12 July. Put the date in your diary.

And, as you'll see on page 2, we're holding a January wine tasting in the crypt of St Peter's, as well as a jazz concert in April, which we're sure will be just as successful as last year's. We have more or less settled on the Scott Head at the junction of Englefield, Culford and Ardleigh Roads, for our general meetings, as long as it is available. It is in the middle of De Beauvoir and there are no problems with disabled access. We look forward to seeing you there.

We rely on loyal deliverers to get this newsletter to you but we only publish four issues a year. Don't forget, if you want to get regular emails on local events, do let us know. These are in plain text and we don't send more than one or two a week, so they won't clog up your inbox. And we put lots of useful information on our website www.debeauvoir.org.uk, too. In this issue of the newsletter, we have started what we hope will be a regular events column. Please let us know if there is anything else you would like to see in your DBA newsletter.

DON'T FORGET TO LOOK AT THE DBA WEBSITE where lots more information can be found, including our email address and phone number.

TASTING of WINTER WINES

SATURDAY 26 JANUARY 2008

ST. PETER'S CRYPT, DE BEAUVOIR ROAD AT 8.00PM

Come and join us for the first ever DBA wine tasting. To help us through the long dark days of winter, we will be tasting a handpicked selection of delicious winter wines at a wide range of prices. All wines are available from Majestic Wines.

TICKETS £10 IN ADVANCE FROM
Paul Bolding (020 7684 5811)

Deadline for purchase of tickets: Sunday 20 January.

Age 18 and over. To comply with legal requirements, proof of age may be requested at the door.

NOTE FOR YOUR DIARY

Following last year's hugely popular jazz event, the DBA is pleased to announce that we have secured the Peter Werth Quintet for another evening of sublime jazz entertainment. Peter, a local De Beauvoir resident, and his quintet, will be playing in the Crypt on Thursday 17 April.

Advance tickets are on sale now from Oliver Schofield (020 7275 0260) priced at £6.50 (concessions £2). Ticket prices on the night will be £7 and £2.50 respectively, so it is worth booking in advance.

Hackney Singers would very much like to thank Julia Porter and the congregation of St. Peter's for allowing them to use the church for a rousing carol concert on 16 December and for contributing so generously to the amazing £896 collected in aid of St. Peter's Cold Weather Night Shelter for the homeless.

They would also be delighted if you all came to their next concert on 10 May, at St John-at-Hackney church, where they will be joined by the Forest Philharmonic Orchestra in Vaughan Williams' Sea

BEIRUT HOSTAGE REMEMBERED IN DE BEAUVOIR by Paul Bolding

When former hostage Brian Keenan was released in August 1990, one of the first places he wanted to revisit was a living room in De Beauvoir. The home of his friends Mike Timperley and Shelagh Lester-Smith in Culford Road, facing the Sussex pub (now the Scolt Head), had been one of the last places he could clearly recall as he tried to remain sane during four long years of captivity in Lebanon.

Brian, Mike and Shelagh had become good friends when they lived in Brussels previously and Brian stayed with them the night before he went to Beirut to take up a teaching post at the American University in 1985.

Shelagh, whose family is from Beirut, had tried to talk him out of going and he describes that encounter in his autobiography An Evil Cradling.

Mike told me recently: 'The last place Brian could clearly recall before he left for Lebanon was our living room at 118 Culford Road. He would evoke it many times alone and later with John (McCarthy), describing the room in detail and trying to remember where everything was, as he looked for ways to stay sane.'

They were reunited soon after Brian's release at a Park Lane hotel. 'He told us he was very keen to see our living room again, so we slipped his minders and took him home for a long night of talk, talk and more talk. He was a frequent visitor to Culford Road, and until John McCarthy was released, so was Jill Morrell, John's girlfriend who started the Friends of John McCarthy movement to campaign for his release. After John was finally released in August 1991, he and Jill would often spend evenings with Brian at Culford Road, enjoying conversation and wine – lots of wine. We would dine at Granita and the Turkish restaurants on Essex Road.

Brian Keenan has recently returned to Beirut to read from his book and to make a film about his ordeal.

THE SHOREDITCH SHARKS RUGBY CLUB

The new year began with a Sharks training session on Sunday 6 January at Shoreditch Park, Pitfield Street for the first session with the under 10s and under 13s. If you have a son or daughter between the ages of 7 and 17 who may be interested in rugby, why not give it a try? Call the Manager, Jenny, on 07904 884485.

The Club takes this opportunity to extend heartfelt thanks for the funds donated by the De Beauvoir Neighbourhood Group to support the purchase of some vital equipment, which will help the Club keep going and grow still more. Many thanks to the Committee for considering our fundraising letter.

Symphony.

NEWS FROM OUR COUNCILLORS

Recycling

The decision by Hackney Council to go for compulsory recycling is proving a success – recycling rates for De Beauvoir continue to increase. The Green Party in Camden are now using Hackney as an example of good practice!

Dealing with street clutter

We have secured a 'signs audit' for De Beauvoir after local concerns were raised about the over-use of signage in the ward. As a result, signs identified on the KCAAC website as being excessive are now being reviewed by council officers. A full review of all traffic and parking signs within the area of the new 20mph/heavy lorry ban scheme is also underway.

Conservation of local heritage

The DBA were keen to see a review of the De Beauvoir Conservation Area brought forward and we have worked with the Cabinet member responsible to make sure this happens. De Beauvoir was one of Hackney's first conservation areas and the review will fully consult local residents on how the historic features of the area are protected.

Tube services for De Beauvoir residents

In November, London Overground took over the North London Line services from Silverlink and travellers can now use pay-as-you-go Oyster cards on the line for the first time. Fares are cheaper with an Oyster card, stations will be fully staffed and new ticket barriers will reduce fare dodging. This marks the culmination of a four-year campaign by Hackney's Mayor and local councillors to secure better public transport for the borough. New stations will be opened at Dalston Junction and Haggerston by 2010 as part of the East London Line project and a link to Highbury & Islington will follow in 2011.

Cycling

Hackney Council has won the London Cycling Awards 2007 for Best Cycling Facility. It was presented by the London Cycling Campaign (LCC) for improving routes for cyclists in the borough. To make things even better, we have been working to see that cycle racks are provided in key local areas. You will notice one outside the Scott Head.

Solar panels

A local resident approached us with the idea of promoting the use of solar panels on the insides of valley roofs of houses in the area. This seemed an excellent suggestion and we asked council planning officials whether it was practicable on the types of buildings we have in De Beauvoir. Their answer was that it is feasible.

The Council itself does not provide grants for solar panels; grants are available for up to £2500 for homeowners through the Low Carbon Building Programme (provided certain criteria are met and the necessary planning permission is granted). Look at this website for eligibility criteria and application procedures:
www.lowcarbonbuildings.org.uk/how/householders.

Councillor website

We have recently launched a De Beauvoir councillor website. On it, you will find many local links, including contact details for your councillors, local services, things to do and even a carbon calculator. You will also find regular updates on news and events with an impact on the local area. So log on and tell us what you think!

BRYAN BRONSON INTERVIEW by Kirsty Norman

Does that name mean anything to any of you? If it does, you have been in De Beauvoir for more years than many of us...

One day a few months ago, while delivering newsletters in De Beauvoir Square, I was stopped by a man asking whether he could park there. It turned out that he was back in De Beauvoir for the first time since the early 1960s, and was looking around his old haunts. He wanted to show his partner St. Peter's Church, and particularly the Crypt, because as a young man he had been a musician and had rehearsed and been to dances there. As they headed for the church, it suddenly occurred to me that I was letting a little bit of history slip through my fingers – all of us, after all, have our stories. I got a notebook, caught up with them in the St. Peter's Café, and here's the story.

Bryan's family came originally from Hoxton, and he lived first on Ecclesbourne Road, where he was brought up by his mother. They later moved to 101 Downham Road where he spent most of his childhood. Some of the earliest memories he talked about were from the war – a flying bomb coming in over Downham Road and landing on the old white lead works (now Rosemary Gardens), and watching from their Anderson shelter as Haggerston was going up in flames.

'In the 1950s, De Beauvoir was alive with kids,' he said. You didn't venture to Islington, though: the Angel was known to have a dangerous gang. He grew up hardly knowing his father: that side of the family, he said darkly, had 'a bit of a reputation'. Having the name Bronson was a liability: police would stop local kids and ask them what their name was, and where they came from, and Bronson wasn't a good name to have.

He went to school locally, swam at the Tibberton Baths opposite Essex Road station and remembered that opposite his school, the family kept pigs.

He went to Sunday school in the building that had once been the bakery, on the corner of De Beauvoir and Downham Roads until he was 15 or 16, but by then skiffle was coming in, and the whole new world of pop music was soon to come. Until then, people had listened to Frankie Lane and Guy Mitchell: 'You couldn't dance to that!' Then came Lonnie Donnigan, Elvis, Jerry Lee Lewis and (here he started losing me) Tennessee Ernie's Shotgun Boogie!

Bryan joined a skiffle group. Then, the vicar of St. Peter's struck upon a novel, if pragmatic, idea to keep his young parishioners involved with the church. In return for using the Crypt for rehearsals and also to hold dances, they must attend church. Amazingly, it all seems to have worked: 'The vicar was a big man. He commanded respect, and there was never any trouble.' In fact, church records mention the need to remove kneelers for these services because they were being used as missiles, but we'll pass over that. On the whole, the deal worked fine.

The dances were a great success, a highlight being the ONE new record a week bought by the Youth Club. Then jive then came in. There were jive competitions at Haringey Arena, and if you could, you bought your records from a record shop on the Kingsland Waste. At the back of Ridley Road, said Bryan, there was a bombsite. Until then, that had been the only place he had ever heard amplified music, when fairs were held there.

His skiffle group, called Group 66, played at St. Peter's and at the Victoria Club in Hackney, keeping their equipment in the basement of the undertaker's on Kingsland Road. By the 1970s his group Consortium had a contract with Pine Records.

Bryan left De Beauvoir at the age of 24, and the Hoxton boy is now settled happily in France.

MIGHTY DE BEAUVOIR WARRIORS CRICKET DINNER AND AWARDS by Richard Lynam

On Saturday 24 November, thirty-eight Mighty De Beauvoir Warriors and WAGs (wives and girlfriends) gathered in the function room of the Scolt Head to celebrate the end of a good 2007 season. While the overall results were better than last year, we still have a long way to go before we trouble Wisden. The evening was MC'd by Russell Gillett-Toone and fine speeches were given by players Barney Lom, Jonathan Dudding and his brother David Dudding, Andrew Hepworth (who had captained us to our best result of the season, a magnificent draw against strong opposition at Kirtlington) and finally our Director of Sledging, Bobby Hillman. After a fine dinner, our Club Captain Simon Briggs presented the Awards. The Awards and recipients were:

- Award for arranging good weather: Chris White
- Award for scoring and first aid: Andrew and Kate Green
- Catch of the season (even though he was on loan to the opposition at the time!): Roger Ward
- Innings of the Year: Steve Greenhalgh
- Bowler of the Year: Jonathan Dudding (who took slight exception to the citation mentioning his sometimes wayward line)
- Young Warrior of the Year: Barney Lom
- Wicketkeeper of the Year: Lawrence Windle
- Warrior of the Year: Daniel Sharman (a brilliant young actor destined for Hollywood but who refrained from breaking down in tears when he received this, the highest accolade the Warriors can bestow).

It was a splendid evening: the Scolt Head catering was delicious, wine flowed and we all staggered home at midnight with a new determination to make 2008 our best season ever!

If anyone is interested in joining us, please contact me at rl@richardlynam.com.
